Welcome to TBNSW Update for Spring 2011

President's Report

For breeders, Spring is a magical time with a new generation of foals being born and mares being bred to the exciting array of stallions now available to us in NSW.

As we look ahead to the 2012 round of yearling sales we can be encouraged by the strong results achieved in the top sessions of the marathon Keeneland September Yearling Sale in Kentucky.

Included with this mailing is the Notice of Meeting for our AGM on Tuesday, November 15 at 4pm at the Inglis complex at Randwick together with the Annual Report and Financial Statements for 2010/2011.

We hope many of you will be able to attend and enjoy a drink after the formalities are completed.

AWARDS DINNER, SCONE,

The National and NSW Breeding Awards Dinner covering achievements during the 2010/2011 season was held at Scone Racecourse on Saturday, August 27.

This was our first attempt at holding a function of this type and those who attended really enjoyed the night and the opportunity to socialize with other breeders and enthusiasts.

A full report on the night and presentations is included in this magazine.

We will make a decision soon but the success of the dinner and positive comments received makes it likely we will hold a similar event at Scone next August.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS FOR HENDRA VIRUS RESEARCH

In the wake of the outbreaks of the potentially deadly Hendra Virus reported in northern NSW and Queensland over the winter, it is pleasing to report the Federal Government has recently pledged $3 million in funding for research into all aspects of this worrying disease.

Some of this funding is coming through Rural Industries Research and Development Corporation which will approve, co-ordinate and manage the research projects to ensure the most efficient use of funding available.

NEW THOROUGHBRED SALES CODE OF CONDUCT INTRODUCED

After much work led by TBA with the strong support of TBNSW, the industry's eight major participant groups have agreed to support a Code of Conduct which we believe will improve standards of conduct and protect the interests of vendors and buyers of bloodstock.

To read the new code introduced in July go to www.tbans.com and click on the link.

AI AND RACE FIELDS COURT CASES

A decision on the financially vital Race fields Legislation appeal is expected this month from the High Court of Australia and we also hope by the end of the year or in early 2012 to have a result after the six-week long action taken by Mr. Bruce Mc Hugh to allow Artificial Insemination to be used in the Australian thoroughbred industry, a change strongly opposed by TBA.

APPROVAL RECEIVED FOR VACCINE TO FIGHT KUNJIN VIRUS

The Federal Government recently gave approval for West Nile Virus vaccine to be imported from the USA to help in protecting our horses from Kunjin Virus, the subject of an article in the Winter issue of Update.

RESULT OF MEMBERS' DRAW FOR "GREAT THOROUGHBRED SIRES OF THE WORLD"

Members who renewed for 2011/2012 before August 31 went into a draw to receive a free copy of this wonderful reference book.

Timeform Australia's review of early Spring racing — The Spring Just Begins

By Gary Crispe/Alex Steedman

Handsome colt Helmet after winning The Age Caulfield Guineas Preview

Quality type Foxwedge, one of Australia's best young sprinters.

Some of Australia's biggest racing names will converge on Melbourne for their main campaign goals over the coming weeks after feature Group races for the spring concluded in Sydney with Randwick's bumper Epsom Day meeting.

In the wake of Epsom Day, attentions now turn entirely to Melbourne with the Caulfield Cup, Cox Plate and of course 'the race that stops a nation' stealing the spotlight over the coming weeks.

As excitement mounts for these races along with a swag of Group 1 sprint, middle distance and 3YO features, now appears an ideal time to look at gallopers who have shown they could be main contenders based on strong winning performances so far this spring.

The first Group 1 race of the new season in NSW was the Golden Rose for three-year-olds, a race that has risen to prominence since its inception in 2003 with past winners such as Group performers Denman, Duporth, Forensics, Paratroopers and In Top Swing all doing their part in ensuring the race reached Group 1 status in 2009.

In fact the race has already produced 15 subsequent Group 1 winners and the 2011 renewal looks set to add to that tally in the months ahead.

The 2011 renewal of the $1 million Group 1 Golden Rose went to the talented lightly raced galloper Manawanui who defeated two wayward but highly talented colts in Smart Missile and Helmet.

The Golden Rose was largely considered by many as a match race between boom colts Smart Missile and Helmet although nobody could write-off Manawanui following his dominant Up And Coming Stakes victory.

Connections of Manawanui paid a late entry fee for the feature event at Rosehill and it proved worthwhile as the Oratorio gelding claimed the Golden Rose with a Timeform rating of 125 awarded for the performance.

Professionalism displayed by both jockey Glyn Schofield and Manawanui was arguably what won them the race with the pair going to the outright lead in the middle stages.

The exciting prospect kicked clear at the 300m and from there could not be caught going on to win by a short neck from Smart Missile.

Race favourites Smart Missile and Helmet filled the minor placings as a combination of greenness and bad luck cost the pair in maximising their stallion prospects.

Smart Missile showed his customary turn of foot over the final two furlongs but could only manage second after racing greenly in the straight where the Anthony Cummings-trained three-year-old hung out badly. His effort was assessed as 124.

Helmet endured a run which trainer Peter Snowden would no doubt rather forget as the Exceed And Excel colt looked to claim his third Group 1 victory.

After being victim to barriers which opened slowly and subsequently losing ground, Helmet then struck interference at the 600m and laid out around the home turn. Helmet was awarded third on protest over John O'Shea-trained Foxwedge .

His performance was assessed at 116, his worst Timeform rated effort in Group company in his short career.

As expected, this year's renewal of the Golden Rose was a strong one. Manawanui's new peak Timeform figure of 125 is the highest rating achieved in Golden Rose history surpassing the effort of Denman (124) in 2009.

Manawanui subsequently scored impressively in the Group 2 Stan Fox Stakes (1500m) at Rosehill enroute to another clash with Smart Missile and Helmet in the Group 1 Caulfield Guineas on October 8th.

It is interesting to note that 2009 Golden Rose winner Denman also won the Stan Fox Stakes however was comfortably beaten in the Group 1 Caulfield Guineas.

The George Main Stakes (1600m) at Warwick Farm was the first Group 1 weight for age contest of the new season and it saw the lightly raced Sincero build on an already impressive record by recording a determined win.

Some of the best gallopers across New South Wales in recent years have won the Group 1 George Main Stakes and Sincero now joins that elite group.

Despite racing three wide throughout, Sincero still managed to outgun a gallant Ilovethiscity over the final stages of the Group 1 George Main Stakes (1500m) this year run at Rosehill.

It was Sincero's second Group 1 victory after claiming the Stradbroke Handicap last season and his latest effort yielded a Timeform rating of 124.

This performance is considered equal to his previous peak Timeform effort achieved when winning the Group 3 Tramway Handicap (1400m) at Warwick Farm on resuming.

Sincero's effort rates slightly higher than the previous five year winning average of the event with previous winners since 2006 including Racing To Win and More Joyous .

A key lead up before the Group 1 Epsom Handicap (1600m), the George Main Stakes regularly boasts some of Sydney's best racehorses from season to season.

Epsom Handicap Day at Randwick boasted four Group 1 races and quality racing.

The Grahame Begg-trained mare Secret Admirer overpowered her rivals in the closing stages to record a strong win to become the first of her sex since the Bart Cummings-trained La Neige back in 1976 to capture one of Randwick's oldest races.

Secret Admirer aided by some "give" in the track led home a 1-2-3 finish for the mares running to a Timeform rating of 120, equal to her previous peak rating registered on this same day twelve months ago when winning the Group 1 Flight Stakes also over 1600m.

The 2011 Epsom renewal was slightly under the five-year winning average for the race but significantly a 120 Timeform rating by Secret Admirer represents the highest rating by a mare in an Epsom since the 121 recorded by the mighty Sunline who ran to 121 when fourth in 1999.

The Group 1 Metropolitan was won in an upset by the Chris Waller-trained The Verminator who had almost three lengths to spare at the judge from stablemate Hawk Island.

The win by the lightly raced gelding held up the form around the recent runnings of the Wyong Gold Cup and Newcastle Gold Cup in which The Verminator had won and ran fourth in respectively.

The Verminator went to a new peak of 115 with his Metropolitan victory at which level the race was assessed as well below the five-year winning average for the race.

After the race, Chris Waller indicated that both his gallopers would head to Melbourne for the Caulfield Cup.

The Group 1 Spring Champion Stakes for three-year-olds over 2000m was won by the rapidly improving Doctor Doom, prepared by Guy Walter and bred by his syndicate of owners.

Under veteran rider Rod Quinn, Doctor Doom was well rated in the lead and soon had the opposition struggling topping the Randwick rise, eventually hanging on grimly to score in a tight finish from Newcastle Spring Stakes winner Darci Be Good.

Both the winner and runner up will now go to the paddock to be prepared for the Autumn three-year-old staying races.

Perhaps the most impressive win on the day was by three-year-old filly Streama who smashed her rivals by a widening six length margin in the Group 1 Flight Stakes (1600m).

The filly had previously won the Furious Stakes and Tea Rose Stakes, both important lead up races to the Flight Stakes but she went to another level winning the Flight Stakes reaching a Timeform rating of 122p equalling the effort by classie Samantha Miss back in 2008.

Following the race, her rider Hugh Bowman was amazed at the ease of her victory and predicted a bright future for the filly.

Guy Walter has also sent Streama to the paddock signalling the Autumn as her next assignment.

Meanwhile in Melbourne the Murray Baker-trained galloper Lion Tamer stormed to victory in Group 1 Underwood Stakes (1800m) ending a twenty year drought for New Zealand trained horses in the feature spring weight for age event.

The last New Zealand-trained galloper to win the Underwood Stakes was The Phantom back in 1990 who incidentally was also trained by Baker.

A hollow winner of the Group 1 Victoria Derby last spring, Lion Tamer was not seen on the racetrack during the Autumn because of injury. The stallion was on a Victoria-Australian Derby double campaign when he sustained a cut to his hock that effectively ruled him out of contention.

Lion Tamer's current campaign began with the Group 1 Challenge Stakes over 1400m at Hastings when fourth to (King) Mufhasa and New Zealand Derby winner Jimmy Choux.

Clearly improved significantly by that run for last Saturday's assignment, Lion Tamer proved too strong for a below standard Underwood Stakes running away from Southern Speed and Midas Touch to win with something in hand on the line.

Lion Tamer was given a great ride by stand-in jockey Michael Rodd, travelling sweetly behind the pace before launching a winning claim soon after heading into the home straight. Once it was apparent Lion Tamer had the race in safe keeping, Rodd let the son of Storming Home idle to the line.

The last horse to complete the Cox Plate – Melbourne Cup double was Makybe Diva in 2005 and prior to her the Bart Cummings-trained Saintly in 1996.

After analysis of the pre race form and rating cycles of runners going into the Underwood, a Timeform rating of 125 was awarded as the merit of Lion Tamer's victory. This represents a new master Timeform rating for Lion Tamer who is shaping as a most progressive type with scope for further improvement.

Lion Tamer became just the fourth Victoria Derby winner in the last 50 years to return at four and win the Underwood Stakes. He joins quality gallopers Tobin Bronze (1966), Bounty Hawk (1984) and Elvstroem (2004) to have achieved this feat.

2010 Golden Rose winner Toorak Toff put a series of career threatening issues behind him returning to top form with a strong win in the Group 1 Sir Rupert Clarke Stakes (1400m) at Caulfield.

Toorak Toff showed plenty of potential as a three-year-old but until Saturday, had been plagued with continuing setbacks that robbed the striking chestnut of racetrack appearances.

After an eye-catching effort fresh up in the Bobbie Lewis down the straight 1200m on resumption, Toorak Toff tackled the Sir Rupert Clarke second up from a spell.

Under Craig Williams, the son of Show A Heart enjoyed a trouble free run on the pace throughout before launching a winning challenge to Sydney-trained Master Of Design soon after entering the straight.

Toorak Toff raced clear of closing stablemate Pinnacles to win by over a length returning a Timeform rating of 123, a figure reflective of his group winning performances as three-year-old.

Despite being out of the winners' circle for just over a year, there was much to like about the victory. He will now step up to 1600m of the Group 1 Toorak Handicap for his next run, a double that has been achieved in recent times by Barely A Moment (117) in 2005 and Regal Roller (118) in 2004.

A rating of 123 makes Toorak Toff the highest rated winner of the feature since classy three-year-old Exceed And Excel strolled home in 2003 rating 125.

The Manikato Stakes was the first Group 1 sprint in Melbourne this season and classy three-year-old colt Sepoy staged a remarkable winning effort.

The Peter Snowden-trained three-year-old colt and winner of the rare Blue Diamond Stakes/Golden Slipper Stakes double at two, demolished a top line up of older sprinters. On a slow surface, Sepoy ran to a Timeform rating of 128+ with a performance belonging only to class gallopers of his age.

After dipping slightly as the barriers opened, Sepoy quickly gathered himself up and railed through to hold the lead in a fierce early battle with Queenslander Buffering.

After travelling 600m, the rider of Buffering handed up the lead to Sepoy who by that stage had done plenty of early work to gain the front.

Rider Kerrin McEvoy wisely steadied the colt soon after for a breather before asking him to sprint again after turning for home.

And Sepoy did not disappoint, answering the call in no uncertain manner, dashing away to beat Sister Madly by over two lengths with multiple Group 1 winning mare More Joyous a further three lengths away in third.

An analysis of the sectional times shows just how much pressure was applied in the final 800m.

Sepoy broke 12 seconds for each of the last 200m sections of the race, and was the only horse to break 12 seconds for the last 200m, again illustrating how strong the colt was at the finish despite expending excess energy reserves early in the race.

A 128 figure makes Sepoy the highest rated winner of the race in the last 25 years and the first three-year-old since Redoute's Choice in 1999 to win the Manikato Stakes. In fact Sepoy became just the seventh of his age to win the sprint feature and significantly joined the mighty 1960s sprinter Vain as the only three-year-olds to have won the Golden Slipper and Manikato Stakes in the same calendar year.

A rating of 128+ for Sepoy places him in elite company for Australian three-year-old sprinters, second only to Weekend Hussler (Timeform rated 130) in the recent times.

However in contrast to Sepoy, Weekend Hussler ran to 130 in the Autumn of his three-year-old season stringing together a sequence of Group 1 wins including the Oakleigh Plate (1100m), Newmarket Handicap (1200m), Randwick Guineas (1600m) and George Ryder Stakes (1500m).

In his Newmarket win as a three-year-old, Weekend Hussler carried a kilo over weight - for -age.

The highest rated three-year-old performance in the modern era in the Spring belongs to the powerhouse sprinter Vain who ran to 134 registering outstanding victories over Cup week that included the Salinger Stakes (1200m) on the Saturday, Linlithgow Stakes (1400m) (now The Age Classic) on Thursday and the Emirates Stakes (1600m) on Saturday carrying a massive 5.5kilos over weight for age.

Sepoy is not in the Vain league but a super clash with champion unbeaten sprinting mare Black Caviar is eagerly awaited.

Breeding industry awards presented at Scone

By Les Young

Thoroughbred Breeders NSW in conjunction with Thoroughbred Breeders Australia and Aushorse Marketing held a dinner at Scone on August 27 to honour some of the breeding achievers of the 2010/2011 season.

Six awards were presented:

- * Champion Australian Sire – won by Lonhro.
- * Champion Australian First Season Sire – won by Written Tycoon.
- * Champion NSW- based First Season Sire – won by Ad Valorem.
- * Australian Broodmare of the Year – won by Black Caviar's dam Helsing.
- * NSW Champion Broodmare – won by More Joyous's dam Sunday Joy.
- * Breeder of the International Horse of The Year – won by Dean Fleming for Rocket Man.

Caroline Searcy, the knowledgeable TVN presenter and a Committee member of TBNSW, acted as MC for the evening and guests viewed TV clips highlighting the awards winners and their progeny.

Trevor Lobb, President of both TBA and TBNSW, presented the Australian Champion Sire Award to Darley's stud manager John Sunderland who in his acceptance speech paid tribute to Lonhro's owner/breeders Woodlands Stud and the people involved with his early development and fabulous racing career.

Horse of the Year in 2004/05, NSW-bred Lonhro won 26 races including 11 Group One contests and earned $5.79 million in prizemoney. He retired to stud in 2004 and so has reached the pinnacle of the sires' list with only four crops racing.

Lonhro, after beginning at Woodlands Stud, Denman, now stands at Darley's magnificent Aberdeen farm and last season his progeny earned $8.74 million.

Although standing at a low fee, Queensland-bred Written Tycoon, an exceptionally handsome son of deceased Iglesia, outperformed many other young stallions at major farms to clinch the award as Champion First Season Sire of Australia.

This winner of the STC Todman Slipper Trial Stakes retired to Lee Fleming's Eliza Park Stud in Victoria in 2007 and last season from only 13 runners had five two-year-old winners headed by Masthead and achieved a very high Average Earnings Index of 3.43.

Mark Lindsay, sales and nominations manager for Eliza Park, traveled from Victoria to accept Written Tycoon's trophy from Derek Field, TBA board member and Vice President of TBNSW.

Another former Woodlands Stud sire now standing Darley, Ad Valorem, won the award as Champion NSW-based first crop sire with eight juvenile winners, most notably Uate.

Ad Valorem, who shuttles between Australia and Coolmore in Ireland, is a son of Danehill's sire Danzig and was himself champion two-year-old in Ireland in 2004 when he took the Group One Middle Park Stakes at Newmarket and as a four-year-old he won another Group One, the Queen Anne Stakes (1600m), that year contested at York due to the closure of Royal Ascot. Darley's Andrew Perryman accepted Ad Valorem's trophy which was presented by TBNSW Committee member Judy Marheine.

The race to be judged Australian Broodmare of the Year for 2010/11 was something of a one act affair going to Desert Sun's daughter Helsing, dam of unbeaten Black Caviar, subsequently voted Horse of the Year in Australia.

Helsing is owned in Victoria by Rick Jamieson's Gilgai Farm but for the last three seasons has been foaled down at Scone by Verna Metcalfe at Middlebrook Valley Lodge.

As Rick Jamieson was not able to be at Scone to accept Helsing's award he sent his horse and farm managers, Meaghan Strickland-Wood and Brett Barnes, to receive the beautiful trophy from Trevor Lobb.

John Singleton's Strawberry Hill Stud north of Sydney had the runaway winner of the award for NSW Champion Broodmare of 2010/11 - Sunday Joy.

Winner of the AJC Oaks and a half-sister to Tuesday Joy, Sunday Joy well deserved her award as the dam of outstanding mare More Joyous who during the season captured four Group Ones - The George Main Stakes, Toorak Handicap, Futurity Stakes and Queen of the Turf Stakes - as well as four other black type features.

She comes from the wonderful Denise's Joy family and her dam Joie Denise, by Danehill, won the QTC Queensland Oaks.

John Singleton's bloodstock manager Duncan Grimley represented him at the presentation of the award by Racing NSW Chairman Alan Bell.

In accepting the award Duncan Grimley acknowledged the contributions of his Glastonbury Stud manager Yvonne Clerke and Bridie Sparkes who manages Strawberry Hill Stud for John Singleton.

Final presentation at the Awards Dinner went to Tyreel Stud owner Dean Fleming as breeder of the horse judged International Horse of The Year, world class sprinter Rocket Man.

Dean received his impressive trophy from Aushorse Marketing's Rowena Smith.

Competition for this award was a close contest with many Australian bred horses winning feature races around the world last season.

Alan Bell, Chairman of Racing NSW (right), presented the trophy for Champion NSW Broodmare to Duncan Grimley.

In the 12 months to July 31, 2011, Rocket Man (Viscount - Macroso) scored three Group One victories in the Golden Shaheen in Dubai, the Lion City Cup in Singapore and the International Sprint in Singapore. He was also runner up in the Group One Hong Kong International Sprint last December and picked up the Group Two Jockey Club Sprint in Hong Kong as well as winning two Group Three events in Singapore.

Caroline Searcy and Les Young had fun drawing the Lucky Door prizes of two copies of Great Thoroughbred Studs of Australia.

To win the award for Dean Fleming, Rocket Man only narrowly nosed out the Kia Ora Stud bred Galileo filly Igugu, South Africa's Horse of the Year last season who won that country's premier race, the Durban July Handicap, and swept the classics for three-year-old fillies.

Q&A with Mark Webster

Technology and modern marketing is changing the way thoroughbreds have traditionally been bought and sold. Les Young spoke recently to Mark Webster, Managing Director of William Inglis & Son Limited to get his views and predictions for the future.

Q. Mark, it is now about four years since you joined Inglis and although you had a keen interest in the thoroughbred industry this was your first professional involvement as you came from a senior management position at News Limited.

Inglis is a long established firm with a proud history and high reputation for integrity but perhaps rather conservative.

What skills do you believe you were able to bring to Inglis to help improve the business?

A. Thanks Les, its important to recognize there were many progressive employees at Inglis when I arrived, they simply needed someone to encourage them to put forward their ideas, and someone to help turn ideas into reality. Obviously I have a great interest in technology and innovation and this is where we've been able to make the biggest impact. My training as a naval warfare officer and as a News Limited executive has certainly helped me to understand how to analyse a situation, identify opportunities, solve problems and compete aggressively. Encouraging teamwork but also entrusting others to do their job and make their own decisions has also been important. All of these skills have come in handy during the EI outbreak and GFC.

Q. My impression is a positive one of your administration in terms of introducing technical innovations such as on-line bidding, greater follow up work to sell horses initially passed in at auction and much improved marketing benefiting both Inglis and its clients. The iPad app. used in the assessment of yearlings submitted for sale is another advance – are there others you would like to mention?

Mark Webster

A. The first major technology improvement was building a new e-commerce enabled website for Inglis. Aside from simple navigation and online catalogues, the backend of the site has a range of tools that allow customers to transact with Inglis, including paying accounts and entering auctions online to save time. Aside from online bidding and our online make – an - offer service, we were the first auction house in the world to provide an internet based x-ray repository. This repository was rated as the best in the world by leading international racing veterinarian John McVeigh during Premier 2011. We were also the first to launch a telephone based product called Inglis Mobile and the first to launch an online video service called Inglis TV.

Q. Introduction of on-line bidding seems to have been a great success. Am I right in thinking this was a world first?

A. We were second in the world, Barretts were first. Having said that, we started off by using the same service provider as Barretts and decided to work with Ardex to build our own about 12 months ago. The service we have built is outstanding and I have no doubt is far superior to anything else in the world. It is fully integrated into our financial systems and the Inglis website and is quicker and more stable than the American based solution.

Q. What has been the experience with on-line bidding – how has it grown, is it used more with certain types of sales?

A. The take up of online bidding grows from sale to sale. It is more popular at mixed and broodmare sales than at yearling sales, which you would expect. At a recent mixed sale we had more registered online bidders than horses in the catalogue, and half the lots entered received an online bid with 25% selling to online bidders. Online bidding is also popular at lower value yearling sales such as Autumn in Melbourne, and at broodmare sales. The most expensive yearling we have sold online was for $600,000 to a HK based client, who had someone inspect the yearling on his behalf.

Q. Traditionally Inglis has been primarily concerned with conducting auctions of all classes of bloodstock, negotiating some private sales and providing some advisory services.

Recently you bought an internet horse listing service, bloodstock.com.au, established another service, horsezone.com.au and created Inglis Digital. What is the strategy behind these moves?

A. Our goal is make Inglis open for business 24/7 and provide our customers with a wide range of services to suit their needs. We also recognize that periodic live auctions is not the only way to sell horses. The internet provides us with a relatively low cost method of expanding our services to meet these needs. It also allows us to expand outside of Australia, and outside of the pure thoroughbred sector.

Bloodstock.com.au provides a low cost “ready when you are” online service for buyers and sellers of thoroughbreds. Horsezone provides the same type of solution for equestrian enthusiasts, but there is a fair degree of crossover for racehorses coming off the track and many people who own a show horse also have an interest in horse racing. There is nothing more rewarding than seeing a Horsezone customer buying a retired thoroughbred gelding for re-education as a pleasure or competition horse. It's also comforting to see small thoroughbred mares with little or no pedigree being purchased to breed polo ponies.

Q. Looking ahead to auction sales of yearlings, weanlings and broodmares next year at this point how do you see market conditions and demand?

A. I'm confident we will assemble quality catalogues for our yearling sales next year. This is a good place to start, and hopefully will attract the right local and international buyers. There are a number of factors that could impact the demand for bloodstock next year, including the high Australian dollar, the global economy, the High Court appeal regarding the NSW Race Fields legislation and of course domestic issues such as a poor federal government and a looming carbon tax. It is impossible to predict how this will impact our sales, but I'm hopeful we can maintain the status quo from this year, with perhaps some improvement in broodmare demand. Lower production costs of the yearlings to be offered next year will certainly help with clearance rates, and assist breeders to make a margin.

Q. From a selling agent's viewpoint, how do you see the future in Australia both for the larger scale breeders and the small breeders who are now finding it very hard to remain viable?

A. Our industry needs breeders of all sizes, we certainly can't afford to lose smaller ones. This is why Inglis has conducted breeding seminars in Sydney and Melbourne this year – we're trying to educate smaller breeders to assist them to prosper from our industry. Readers can watch a video replay of the seminars on Inglis TV, accessible via www.inglis.com.au

Q. In most parts of the world selling and buying by auction has long been the way the majority of horses change hands. Do you foresee this changing to any degree in, say, the next decade?

A. I'm confident the auction system is still the best way to trade bloodstock, especially younger horses and racing prospects where a detailed inspection is required. It is also the only real way of establishing a market price for a horse, and provides vendors and buyers with confidence. The other roles provided by the auction house, such as providing credit and guaranteeing vendor payments are also important to facilitate trade. I don't see any major shift in yearling volume over the next 10 years, but we may expect a shift in some broodmare and tried horse volume online and if this occurs we are well placed to service this market.

Q. Selling or buying via the internet privately often provides a more timely way to deal in horses during periods when no auctions are held. Are there other advantages and disadvantages for both sellers and buyers when compared with using auctions?

A. Obviously the key benefit of selling online at Bloodstock.com.au is the immediacy – you can advertise this morning and sell this afternoon. We have plenty of examples of horses selling within hours, and this is important for trainers who want a tried horse out of their stable or an owner who just wants the bills to stop. Selling online is also more cost effective than an auction, but the seller must take the risk that he or she will be paid on time – a role normally fulfilled by the auction house. The buyer also accepts the risk of buying privately, and has no protection from the conditions of sale that would normally apply at an auction.

Saratoga yearling sales strong despite economy

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. — Despite global economic uncertainty, the Fasig-Tipton select yearling thoroughbred sales remained strong. The average price of a yearling sold during the two-session auction that closed Tuesday was $319,340, up by 15.9 percent from last year. Gross revenue rose to $32.89 million, up by 1.2 percent from 2010. The number of horses sold dropped by 15, to 104.

JRHA Sale Ends With Double-Digit Increases

Spirited bidding on a March colt by Neo Universe pushed his final price to ¥250 million (US$3,048,781) July 12 during the foal session of the Japan Racing Horse Association Select sale. The colt out of Wind In Her Hair is a three-quarter brother to two-time Japanese Horse of the Year Deep Impact and is the ninth-most expensive weanling in JRHA history.

TONY ARROLD RACING WORLD

THE 2011 Keeneland September yearling sale ended on Saturday with its theme one of extraordinary success against all the odds.

The marathon 13-day sale, the biggest of its kind in the world, returned across the board double-digit positives that were topped by...

335 lots fetching $US27.437m, had a strong cheer — and a message for breeders — for the vibrant outcome of the September sale.

"We are very pleasantly surprised by the market being up pretty consistently throughout the sale," Farish said. "The decrease in the size of the foal crop, lower production costs and lower stud fees have given buyers a new sense of confidence — they are more apt to want to race because they can get in at lower rates."

Geoffrey Russell, director of...

Manawanui – a classic tale of success for small breeders

By Les Young

Jockey Glyn Schofield and trainer Ron Leemon with the Golden Rose trophy.

Manawanui, in taking the 2011 ATC Golden Rose, followed hot on the heels of Sincero as recent Group One winners produced in NSW by small breeders.

Two other recent NSW-bred Group One winners produced by small breeders are crack three-year-old filly Streama and Doctor Doom (ATC Inglis Spring Champion Stakes).

Streama, bred by the Coghlan family's Brook Pastoral Pty. Ltd., scored a huge win in the Coolmore Flight Stakes on October 1 after previous successes this season in the Group Two Furious Stakes and the Tea Rose Stakes.

Doctor Doom is bred and raced by Mr. C.E. Hardy's Unique Style Syndicate, his dam Orcym costing them just $1800 at the 2006 Scone Thoroughbred Sale.

While the big breeding operations get most of the glory and publicity, our small breeders are the backbone of the industry as their often well chosen stallion matings are important in supporting stallions at the top farms like Arrowfield, Coolmore, Darley and Widden.

Manawanui's delighted breeder is Sydney resident Wayne Palmer who sold the now gelded colt for $45,000 at the Inglis Classic Yearling Sale in 2010 where he was presented for him by Kerrie Tibbey of Goodwood Farm, Murrurundi, in the Upper Hunter. Wayne Palmer, like a number of other successful NSW breeders past and present, is in the poultry business.

He acquired Manawanui's dam Lady Remlap (Palmer spelt backwards!) in 2002 at the same Inglis Classic Yearling Sale at which he sold Manawanui, paying $27,000. Given to Hawkesbury trainer Warwick Hailes, Lady Remlap (by Filante) did well for the fledgling owner, winning seven races from 1000m to 1600m, five of them in Sydney. When Lady Remlap finished racing Wayne Palmer decided to breed from her. As he explained recently: "I couldn't let her go, she was part of the family."

Wayne Palmer's sentiment has paid off well for him as Lady Remlap, like many racemares with metropolitan or better ability, proved an instant hit as a broodmare, her first foal being the retained Choisir filly La Remlap, a winner to date of three races on Sydney tracks earning more than $107,000 in prizemoney.

While Lady Remlap's pedigree is hardly fashionable by today's standards her genetic background is excellent, her dam Sourpuss (by Groucho) being a good Sydney winner of 12 races up to 1200m.

Sourpuss, in turn, is out of the speedy Vain Explorer (five wins), a daughter of champion racehorse and sire Vain.

Going further back in Manawanui's tail female line is fascinating for someone of my vintage as we find that his fifth dam was the royally-bred Day Girl (Todman – Wenona Girl, by Wilkes).

Wenona Girl (1957), the star of the first crop by her champion sire, was a beautiful chestnut with a flaxen mane and tail with the true talent and soundness to go with her looks.

She was the champion two-year-old filly of her year taking the AJC Gimcrack Stakes at her first start and in the autumn both the VRC and AJC Sires' Produce Stakes.

While she possessed the brilliance to win over 1000m against the best, Wenona Girl was able to extend her speed up to 2400m, at which distance she captured the 1961 AJC Adrian Knox Oaks Stakes.

Remarkably, she was still winning feature races as a six-year-old, retiring with 27 wins to her name, 22 of them black type features including such top events as the AJC Flight Stakes, STC Rosehill Guineas, VATC One Thousand Guineas, STC Rawson Stakes (twice), MRC C.F. Orr Stakes, AJC George Main Stakes, VATC Futurity Stakes, VRC Lightning Stakes (twice), VRC George Adams Stakes, Linlithgow Stakes and AJC All-Aged Stakes, about 16 of those today regarded as Group Ones.

Manawanui, then, comes from a truly illustrious family as Wenona Girl had two stakeswinning full relations, Emblem (VRC Sires' Produce Stakes) and Grammar Lad, a fairly successful sire, while her dam Golden Chariot was the winner of the VATC One Thousand Guineas.

Oratorio (IRE), Manawanui's sire, is one of Danehill's best racing sons and since retiring to Coolmore's farms in Ireland and Australia has so far generated 14 stakeswinners, other Group One performers being top New Zealand filly Banchee, star Irish juvenile Beethoven and another of his Australian progeny, Torio's Quest, could well win at the highest level before the spring is finished.

There are no duplications in the first five removes of Manawanui's extended pedigree chart but further back there are multiples of Hyperion, Nasrullah, Nasrullah's great son Bold Ruler, Fair Trial and the brother and sister Aureole and Angel Bright while Lady Remlap is linebred to Round Table and his sister Monarchy.

Protexin
Multi-Strain Probiotic

Get them off to a great start

A study by NSW Agriculture confirms the lack of lactobacilli in the gut of foals and recommends the use of Protexin because of the importance of lactobacilli as an indicator of gut health.

As a foal is born with a sterile gut it is quickly populated with beneficial and pathogenic bacteria from the environment. Protexin contains billions of naturally occurring and beneficial bacteria essential for intestinal good health.

Protexin is recommended for at least the first 5 days to get your foal off to a healthy start.

OVERALL INCIDENCE OF FOAL DIARRHOEA 1988 - 1994

7 year Hunter Valley study with over 1600 foals by Rodger & Williams clearly demonstrates that at least 10% of foals will get scours in the 1st 5 days. It highlights the fact almost no foals scour on day 1, yet are susceptible to attack by pathogens especially in the first 5 days of life. This highlights the importance of using Protexin from day 1. During the first 60 days of life about 30% of all foals can be expected to scour.

ACTIVATION OF CELLULAR IMMUNITY

Published studies at NSW Agriculture confirm Protexin's role in activating cellular immunity with improved antibody response in neonates.

BOOSTING FOAL IMMUNITY

This Hunter Valley study clearly shows improved foal immunity and a subsequent 80% reduction in foal plasma treatments when mares were dosed with Protexin prior to foaling.

Protexin, protect your valuable foals.
